WHO'S INTERESTED?

Last Tuesday was general election day throughout the United States, the results of which could mean a lot to our future well-being. Here in Hancock County just about one out of every eight qualified voters took advantage of their right to vote, and yet they howl about the type of government they have and what should be done about it. But what do they do? They forfeit their one big chance to have a voice in their government by refusing to take advantage of their right to vote for the man of their choice. The Provisional League of Women Voters in Hancock County are working towards the goal of getting every voter to the polls on election day and we are wholeheartedly behind them in their efforts.

Sidewalk Soliloquies...

by

Tuesday was the day we were all supposed to go to the polls and express our opinions as to who should be elected for what—I say "supposed" because there is always a number who take the "Let George do it" attitude—that's all wrong as we all know—that's a duty we owe ourselves and our neighbors—and our country—and one we should perform. Yacht Club really tossed themselves a whining last Saturday evening—the costumes—thought at first it was something I'd drunk for supper—music was good—drinks the same—everyone as far as I could see was having a good time—Whoopie! A little item for the attention of the City Fathers, to wit—on Second from Main to Ulman—four "STOP" signs—at least two of them could be used to good advantage in other sections of the Bay—also some "SLOW" signs along the business section of Beach—also some indication as to how fast they are allowed to drive by law—See where the STAR Theatre is having Joel McCrea in "Stars in My Crown" playing this week end—good show, be sure to see it—Kiln School last Monday evening—big PTA meeting: movies; treats; gifts for all—by courtesy Texaco Oil Co.—for the men, five quarts of oil—cooking wear for the ladies—by the way, the new principal, Mr. Guidroz with his staff are going all-out for a landscaping job on the Kiln School grounds—fences, shrubbery—the works! Good going there, Guidroz—a salute to Mr. Breland, the School Supt.—project has the touch of his planning behind it—the fellow's on the ball—By the way, November 12th is the day—if you want to see some tough football—played tough—St. Stanislaus Stadium the place—the teams—Bogalusa Black Lumberjacks versus Bay St. Louis Tigers—the game "The Chocolate Bowl"—these boys love it rough—so do we as long as we aren't in it—let's turn out and see the fun—and incidentally, help the American Legion—Lost a mighty sweet lady last Friday—Mrs. Phillips—beloved by everyone, including me and mine—going to miss her—our deepest sympathies to those she left behind—we know how it hurts!—The weather is still unbelievable.

Gifts should be brought to the Auxiliary.

Bingo will be the game of the evening and will provide prizes and amusement for young and old at the big party scheduled at the Waveland School Wednesday night, Nov. 15. The Parents' Club is sponsoring the affair. Come on out and enjoy the fun and maybe you'll be lucky enough to take home a nice prize!

Pretty little Jane Schiffman celebrated her eighth birthday Sunday afternoon at the home of her parents on Jeff Davis Avenue. Many of Jane's classmates and friends helped her enjoy the party. Miss Cecile Turcotte, Jane's teacher at the Waveland School, was among the guests. Jane received many lovely gifts and later in the afternoon, the children enjoyed delicious refreshments.

Miss Mary Margaret Turcotte spent Sunday in Escatawapa, Miss., where she visited friends.

Miss Betty Hava, young daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hava, entertained some of her friends over the week end at a house party in the Beach home of her parents. The youngsters enjoyed two days of fun and frolic and returned to New Orleans Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Hava chaperoned the group. Among Betty's guests were Joan Kern, Carol Radst, Barbara Lindemann, Patsy Rupp, Noel Smith, Jeannette Waggoner, Kathleen Ruach, Tony Montelano, James Flannigan, Jerome Flannigan, Curtis Waggoner, Larry Smith, Raoul Pagano, and Larry Hagen.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haggerty of Jeff Davis Avenue had as their guests this past week-end Mr. and Mrs. E. Love, rest, and Mr. and Mrs. Emile Federick.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Huhn spent the week end in their home on Wood St.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Pullenz and family and Mr. Adolph Pullenz's mother, Mrs. H. Pullenz, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Tucker. These friends are from Massachusetts and are on their way to Santiago, California for an extended trip.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tucker of New Orleans and Mr. and Mrs. A. Fabre and Bobby were also week end guests at the Gerald Tucker home.

Revival services which were conducted all last week in the large tent on Railroad Avenue were discontinued Saturday night due to the cold weather. Reverend Robert Salley, Methodist minister in charge of the services, stated that due to the weather further services on the church lot will be discontinued until spring. Sunday services will be held this Sunday at 728 Beach Boulevard at 4:00 o'clock. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Macaluso were in their Beach home over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Bourgeois, and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Ladner and children visited the Alfred Bourgeois during the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Drew and baby, Lynette, and Mrs. Alfred Bourgeois motored to New Orleans Tuesday.

Word has come from Seaside, Oregon, that the new arrival is a boy. Congratulations go to the proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Michael Bourgeois. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bourgeois have also received news from far off Japan where their other son, Leroy is stationed with the US Army. Leroy is just being promoted to a corporal.

Mr. T. H. Brockman, Sr., and son, Ott, spent Tuesday in New Orleans.

Miss Alma Parker, of Logtown, spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Norman Hall and daughter, Lynne.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Ladner, their two sons, Charles and Levy, and the latter's wives, spent the week end at the Ladner residence on Market Street. All of the Ladner family are now residing in New Orleans.

The firm, manufacturers of sport and novelty hosiery, contemplates relocation of their plant at some time in the future, and would employ about 100 people. Too much business prevents their considering another location at the present time.

Legislative Reorganization Committee Recommends Establishment of A State Department of Correction

Jackson, Miss. At a meeting held in Vicksburg, Miss., on Wednesday of last week, the Legislative Reorganization Committee adopted a report which recommends the establishment of a Department of Correction in which all correctional functions now being performed by the State of Mississippi would be consolidated.

The Committee also recommends that the State Board of Public Welfare be increased from three members to five by adding two members from the state-at-large to the three members now appointed, one from each supreme court district.

The proposed Department of Corrections would be headed by a five member board appointed by the Governor for staggered terms of five years each, one from each supreme court district and two from the state-at-large. Three of the members would have special qualifications: one would be an educator, one a licensed physician, and one a social worker and a member of the American Association of Social Workers. The Board of Correction would be a policy making group for the department.

Management and operation of the Department of Corrections would be the responsibility of the director, appointed by the governor for four years on recommendation of the board, if the recommendations of the Reorganization Committee are adopted by the Legislature.

The report provides that the proposed department have five bureaus under its jurisdiction, namely, Supervised Release, Juvenile Probation, Institutions, Statistics and Research, and Administrative Services, each headed by a bureau chief appointed by the director of the department.

The report also recommends that the Bureau of Supervised Release be charged with the supervision of all persons released on parole and the Bureau of Juvenile Probation supervise a probation system for delinquent youth. The three state correctional institutions, the Columbia and the Oakley Training Schools would be under the supervision of the Bureau of Institutions, with the resident superintendents of the institutions being appointed by the department director on recommendation of the chief of the bureau.

The Committee recommends the establishment of a new service in the

"Prince of Peace" Previewed at High School Monday Night To Appreciative Audience

When Pastor Walloch, the "Little Minister" to a small congregation in Lawton, Oklahoma conceived the idea of doing an Easter pageant depicting the life of Christ he started with a cast of 13. Now in 1950 this cast has grown to 3000 people.

In 1926 when the pageant originated life was pretty rough for the "Little Minister." There was no church and the number of people in Lawton who were interested in the idea of a religious pageant was limited. The group however was enthusiastic and determined and so the pageant grew.

Widely publicized and written up in several national magazines it has become a tourist attraction for citizens from every state in the union and several foreign countries.

Amazing in detail and coloring, the life of Christ from the Nativity to the Ascension is portrayed with dignity and beauty.

The entire pageant is enacted on one of the Wichita mountains near Lawton where a stone city depicting the Holy City has been erected. This together with the rugged terrain and picturesque mountain background has created a setting which adds greatly to the realism of the story.

Among others who came to view the pageant on Easter Sunday, in 1935 was a group of Washington officials.

Impressed with the work that had been done, they gave the "Little Minister" a grant from WPA which paid for the building of the holy city and the church.

The story, which as a strictly religious theme might have become tiresome to some, has been written into and around the family background of Pastor Walloch's own family in Lawton and has a human interest theme which holds the attention of even the most pagan.

A very small girl by the name of Ginger Prince does a remarkable piece of acting as the Little Minister's niece. Unusually talented she carries the picture both by her personal charm and her expert rendition of several popular songs.

The entire cast of amateurs show the patience and training which has been put into the pageant and the artistic beauty of the production is unsurpassed, particularly the Last Supper which in coloring and arrangement is reminiscent of Leonardo Da Vinci's famous painting of that name, and the scene on Calvary when Christ suffers the agonies of the crucifixion with the two thieves beside him.

The picture, a Hallmark production, goes under the name of the "Prince of Peace" and will be shown at the A&G Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 14-15.

Facts and Figures Concerning City Of Bay Saint Louis. As Compiled By The Provisional League of Women Voters

As a service to our readers, and at the request of the Provisional League of Women Voters of Bay St. Louis, the Hancock County Eagle is printing, in weekly installments the results of the League's first work project, the facts and figures concerning the town of Bay St. Louis. The League suggests that you clip these articles and keep them for reference. Or, if you wish to obtain a copy of the booklet published by the league, you may do so by applying to this paper of by calling Mrs. E. C. Samuel, 560.

The League wishes to emphasize the non-controversial nature of this study. It was done entirely to acquaint the residents of the Bay and of Hancock County with their own town. It must also be remembered that some of the information contained is subject to change, as for instance, the millage which was, since the publication of the booklet, been reduced a half mill. Therefore we suggest that, as changes occur, you make the corrections in your own booklet or series of articles. The League expects, from time to time, to publish more material concerning good government, and it will be worth your while to keep and refer to its publications.

OUR TOWN'S BACKGROUND AND CHARACTERISTICS

Bay Saint Louis is the county seat of Hancock County, is located on the Bay of St. Louis and on US Highway 90 about sixty miles from New Orleans. Its first settlers were Choctaw Indians, many of whose descendants are citizens of the town today. In 1699 the French explorer Bienville and five of his men landed on the shores on the birthday of Louis IX and named this body of water the Bay of Saint Louis.

In January 1858, the citizens of the small town, which had sprung up here as a result of French shipping through the bay, organized themselves, chose a mayor and aldermen, and called their settlement the City of Shieldsboro. In February 1852, an ordinance was passed, changing the name of the town to Bay Saint Louis.

The population of Bay Saint Louis, according to the 1950 census, is 4,664, which represents an increase of over 500 over the 1940 figure of 4,148. Most of the town's revenue comes from tourist business, commuters' trade, and fishing. Like most small towns, ours has many and varied civic and social organizations.

The public library is located on Main Street at the Knights of Columbus Hall. Its running expenses are divided between the city and the county, and further funds come from an annual tag day, individual donations, and occasional book reviews. It is supplied with additional material four times a year by the state bookmobile.

Bay Saint Louis has one Methodist Episcopal, one Baptist and two Catholic churches for white residents. For colored residents there are one Catholic, two Methodist, and two Baptist churches. St. Augustine's Seminary, the only Catholic seminary in the United States for training colored priests, is also located here. Each church has several religious societies.

There are three weekly newspapers here—The Hancock County Eagle, The Sea Coast Echo, and the Light.

FORM OF GOVERNMENT

Since 1927, Bay Saint Louis has operated under the commission form of government. The governing body, called the Commission Council, is composed of a mayor, a commissioner of finance, and a commissioner of public utilities. The Council, which has jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to the municipality, meets on the first and third Monday of every month, and the meetings are open to the public. The mayor and the commissioners are elected for four years each, and may succeed themselves indefinitely. Each receives a salary of $3,600.

TOOLS OF GOVERNMENT

PERSONAL: Including the three members of the Commission Council, there are thirty persons working in the city government, and forty-two in the public schools. They are hired by the Commission Council and the School Board.

Town government jobs are classified as follows: The Mayor, Commissioner of Finance, and Commissioner of Public Utilities.

POLICE DEPT: The chief, and 3 subordinates.

FIRE DEPT: Chief and two subordinates. (There are also seventeen unpaid volunteer firemen.)

Other employees are unclassified, with the exception of one road grader. There is no promotion or retirement program. Employees are hired and fired at the will of the Commission Council. Several employees do clerical work and should be classified as skilled.

FINANCE: The Commissioner of Finance is a member of the council responsible for handling finances in accord with the other two Commissioners.

The town budget includes all revenues and expenditures, both current and capital. This budget is broken down to give detailed information as to expenditures and revenues. It is published in the public press; all members attend the meetings, and the Commission Council meetings are open to the public. Final approval is made by the Commission Council. The budget is balanced when adopted, and is administered by the Commission Council. Preparation and discussion of the budget continues through the year; it is proposed at one meeting, voted on at the following, on the first week in October.

The money for all town government is appropriated by the Commission Council. The Commission levies all taxes; however, the tax authority is limited by State Law.

SJA Students Entertain In Honor of 300th Anniversary

The children of St. Joseph's Academy presented an entertainment for the Sisters last Friday night in honor of their three hundredth anniversary of the founding of their Order, 1650-1950.

Each grade sang a song from the first through the High School, offering their congratulations and felicitations. Miss Patsy Chapman and Miss Ann Schmidt played the Grande Marche de Concerto by Wollnhaupf, a duet on the piano, and Miss Jeanne Turpen read a beautiful poem to the Sisters. Miss Alice Braud was the announcer.

The affair lasted only an hour but was very beautiful and impressive.

ALLGEYERS ENTERTAIN SUNDAY AT MID-DAY COFFEE PARTY

Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Allgeyer entertained on Sunday with a mid-day coffee party at their home on Jeff Davis Avenue in Waveland.

The Allgeyer home was beautifully decorated for the party with bowls of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

On the mantel in the living room an unusual vase held deep yellow roses and in the dining room the table was centered with a lazy susan banked with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

On the buffet in the dining room there was another beautiful arrangement of the chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Allgeyer received her guests in a black nylon silk dress made on draped lines.

HALLOWE'EN PARTY AT DUPAQUIERS

A group of friends and classmates of Miss Alice Dupaquier were entertained at her home "Ten Oaks" at a Halloween party on Tuesday night. Guests were St. Stanislaus boys and the usual Halloween games were played and dancing enjoyed. The girls served refreshments of sandwiches and cake.

RURAL TELEPHONE FACILITIES FOR MISSISSIPPI

New Switching Centers Established in 4 Communities... 8 More in Progress

New dial switching centers have been established in 4 communities as a part of expanding rural telephone facilities in Mississippi, and 8 more are scheduled for service in the next few months.

The four new switching centers in operation are at Sturgis in Oktibbeha County; Union Church, Jefferson County; Handie, Winston County; and Vancleave, Jackson County. These switching centers are now serving around five hundred telephone lines and have additional capacity for serving many more.

The 8 additional switching centers scheduled for the early future are to be located at Hurley, Jackson County; Lena and Walnut Grove, Leake County; Benton, Yazoo County; Sledge, Panola County; Weir, Choctaw County; Brooksville, Noxubee County; and Wren, Monroe County.

Mississippi covers a lot of territory, and filling its large and growing demand for farm telephone service is a big and costly job. But we're moving along at a fast pace to make the service available to more and more farmers and more valuable to all Mississippians.

PEGGY FOOTE

If I were an artist I would certainly have attempted to paint the two magnificent sunsets I sat and revelled in yesterday and today. From my position near Paradise Point, I had a choice seat for the show. If ever you want to witness one of the best things in life for free, drive down to the end of the sea wall at Cedar Point and watch. Maybe you'll see me there and it will clear up all your speculations as to who I am, for I don't live far from there and I go often. The two sunsets were so similar, especially in color. They are rarely ever the same. A child in the family and I used to bet every evening what color the sunset would be. We hardly ever won but it was fun and it was my way of teaching him to appreciate beauty and nature. In my particular sunsets the colors were almost like a rainbow. There was a delicate green laced with a foamy peach-colored cloud. Above this was a periwinkle purple topped by more clouds which looked like pale grey wisps. A little yellow was interspersed with traces of soft blue. The water was the color of a sapphire and the complement to the whole exquisite panorama was an enormous flame-colored sun. The spectacle left me breathless! The best things in life truly are free!

I could not turn in my meagre contributions this week without mentioning two of the week's major activities: the Flower Judging School and the Shipwreck Party. Both were smashing successes. There were many people at both affairs that I have not seen before and it was good to see lots of new faces. When one lives in this area as many years as I have a new face is quickly discernable, even with transients what they are.

Everyone knows that Lorraine Camors won first prize in the female class for her clever costume. She was all done up in sacks and rope but Lorraine would win a prize no matter what she wore. Her deep-set eyes and glorious dark hair make her truly beautiful. Drury Blair was in a formal suit with "green backs" sewed all over him and a placard reading "I bought my way back." The funniest man was John McDonald who appeared in a flannel shirt and a battered straw hat. When he walked across the floor with his wife a box set up. For a few moments he didn't seem to realize that everyone was enjoying the comical picture he made. Then, it dawned on him and one could see that he didn't really know how funny he looked. His usual dignity was completely hidden. There was "Father Neptune" and "the mermaid." There was a tramp leading a little sober-faced Chinese maiden by the hand. A woman I did not know came in a flannel shirt gown with an ice-bag tied on her head. Upon questioning her she said she had been "rescued and hospitalized." There was a tattered marine, whose expression never changed from one of shock. At least one good, authentic-looking black eye was noticed amongst the refugees. Willa May Gilmore made an entrancing hula-hula girl. Mary Cannon Bell was wrapped in three emerald green bath towels. Bea Smith Floyd was in an old-fashioned cotton nightgown wearing a chin strap. On Gertrude Sauer's back was a placard saying, "I missed the boat." She was not masked. Mary and "Jr." Breath were typical seafarers done up in oilskins. "Tish" LeTissier and wife were not masked but "Tish" was sporting a long grey beard made of moss. (Those dressed in moss I sympathize with—it is so redolent with tiny spiders.) Marie Louise Blair was one of the most unusual. She was wearing a death-like pallor and was completely covered with moss to which dangled crab shells, oyster shells and other crustacean objects. When approached she would chant in a doleful monotone, "I have been dead a long time." There were many, many more which I do not have space to describe. Our very good friends, Eddie and Eunice Brigrac won the trip to Havana. I made up my mind to one thing, never, never will I go to an affair of the sort again without making in character. I missed half the fun being "myself."

The Flower Judging School (I believe I have the title correct) was well attended. There was a profusion of beautiful blooms. And everyone was there. My prime reason for going was for the paper, since I am not interested in gardening—(don't know a field daisy from a field dandelion) so a lot of the worthy information went over my head. But, I loved being there and watching people and seeing the arrangements take form under the skilled hands of Dorothy Biddle (who was a dead ringer for Mrs. Kelleher.) Dorothy (I learned she preferred being called) had a rather airy charm. A glance through one of her books revealed some very interesting table decorations. One was described as being spread with a Navy cloth with a border of white hair lines. Ruby glass plates were used as was restraint in the placing of crystal tumblers. Two blue glass vases held white stock. Another she described is one done with an orchid damask cloth. On this were set amethyst glass plates and goblets. On an invisible base were four eggplants supported by rhododendron leaves. Rising in the middle and thinning towards the sides were clusters of rhododendron. Flowers of rich, red violet.

One's imagination runs riot with ideas for beautiful tables. I wish I could be hired to do nothing but plan them. With various inexpensive dishes (not necessarily sets) and one or two colorful table cloths, many beautiful and unusual ideas could be executed. But—to get back to the course—

Humph! How about this? A young woman with a twelve year old dog, "pups" a corsage on his rump, commands him to "play dead" and wraps him around her neck. This trick admits her into hotels and once took ladies into England by this means thus avoiding the usual quarantine on dogs entering the British Isles. On closer observation I am not at all sure that she shouldn't drape herself around the canine's neck. Meow!

This doggy conversation brings to mind the very bad manners most people tolerate, (or I should say—ignore) in their pets. I know of at least one home that I never hope to visit again because the brute licked me square across the mouth. As usual, my mouth was open—so if you ever want to know how intriguing a kiss is from a dog I can tell you all about it. I like dogs. I've had them myself—but I could never—in a million years—agree that God intended for animals to live with people. If so, He would have fashioned them to be more independent. Some will tell you, "Oh, Prince" (or "Duke" or "Colonel" or whatever) won't bite you" or "He doesn't have fleas." Don't you believe them or you'll go home one day with two pounds of flesh out of your calf and your fur coat so alive it would trot home without you if you turned it loose.

I remember being invited to a seafood dinner several years ago and accepted with gratitude until I learned that "Fido" always sat at the table also. I couldn't eat, naturally, and that makes the second place I never went again. Another time I was invited to luncheon in a lovely home filled with priceless Oriental "objects de art." My hostess was a renowned gourmet and I was prepared for an unusual and tempting meal. The salad course was delectable as was the main course. The desert was mocha ice cream done up with red and green cherries and I was just about to devour it when I saw sitting demurely on the side of my dish two shiny, curly black hairs belonging to "Duchess." (Number 3 on my "Never go there again list.") I

"STARS IN MY CROWN" AT THE STAR THEATRE SUN. & MON., NOV. 12-13

"Stars in My Crown," new MGM drama operating this week at the Star Theatre, stars Joel McCrea with a cast of screen favorites in the action-filled story of a two-fisted person whose whisper spoke louder than six guns. McCrea, inseparably associated with outdoor roles, plays the Civil War cavalryman turned preacher, who brings law and order, love and laughter to a small Southern community. Appearing opposite the star is Ellen Drey who portrays that unsung heroine, the housewife and the gentle power behind many a man's success. As their little world, who contributes much of the laughter to the story, is Dean Stockwell, popular juvenile star who recently scored in "The Secret Garden."

An outstanding supporting cast features Alan Hale, Lewis Stone, Juana Hernandez, who won wide critical praise for his performance in "Intruder in the Dust," Charles Kemper and Sydney Rumance features James Mitchell, recruited to films after his success on the Broadway stage, and Amanda Blake, another talented newcomer who makes her screen debut in the role of a pretty school teacher.

A typical Southern frontier town was duplicated on an MGM set covering four acres and complete with a half-mile railroad track. Additional location sequences were filmed in Placerville Canyon, Cal., and in the hills overlooking the San Fernando Valley.

Highlighting the screen adaptation of the Joe David Brown novel is an unusual musical score. No original music was composed for the film which draws entirely on songs and folk tunes, both popular and sacred, existing in the post-Civil War period.

"Stars in My Crown" was directed by Jacques Tourneur ("Canyon Passage") and was produced by William H. Wright, whose diversified productions range from such romantic comedies as "The Bride Goes Wild" to the dramatic "Act of Violence."

Maude Jacobs followed Mrs. Biddle on Friday. Horticulture bores me but I found the lady such an engaging speaker that I actually learned something. I spoke to her briefly after the course and found her very charming, with a definite twinkle in her soft blue eyes.

Olga Kennedy looked very pretty as an aid to the speakers and my favorite Dottie Schafer on the other hand. Faery Boyd needn't have had her "alternate chills and fever" after all. A great deal of credit goes to her and Edwina Madgagh for bringing the ladies to our town. It is the sort of cultural thing every community should appreciate. Was a little sorry not to see more of our younger matrons there, but perhaps the town needs a couple of good baby sitters.

"Beef-cake" is the male version of "Cheese-cake."

I'm sure you're all familiar with the canned date and nut roll or even more delicious is the orange nut roll but have you ever tried it this way? 2-3 oz. pkgs. cream cheese. 1-8 oz. can date & nut (or orange) roll. 1-tbs. light cream or orange juice. 1-tbs. finely chopped crystallized ginger, if desired. Allow cream cheese to soften at room temperature. Meanwhile, remove the roll from can (open on both ends and it will slip from can very easily.) Cut roll into slices about three-eighths inch thick. Cream the cheese until fluffy. Stir in the cream or orange juice and add the ginger, if desired. Ice entire roll with the remaining cream cheese mixture. Cover roll carefully so that cover does not touch roll. Place in refrigerator until it is well chilled and cheese is firm. This will take about two hours. Just before serving, cut into diagonal slices to give an attractive appearance.

"FATHER OF THE BRIDE" SUN. & MON., NOV. 12-13 AT HI-WAY DRIVE-IN

"Father of the Bride," which brings Spencer Tracy, Joan Bennett and Elizabeth Taylor to the Hi-Way Drive-In screen Sunday and Monday, is the hilarious and heartwarming story of a father's trials and tribulations when his daughter announces her impending marriage. The laugh-filled action revolves about what happens to him before, during and after the wedding.

The picture is based on the story by Edward Streeter, read by more than ten million people. It was a Book-of-the-Month selection and also ran as a serial in a national magazine before being syndicated in a number of leading newspapers throughout the country. The screen play was written by Frances Goodrich and Albert Hackett.

The new picture marks the second comedy in a row for Spencer Tracy, coming on top of his big hit in "Adam's Rib." As the "Father of the Bride" he salutes all fathers of daughters—past, present and future!

The role of the mother is played by Joan Bennett, who recently scored in another mother role in "The Reckless Moment." Her current assignment is her first at the MGM studios.

Elizabeth Taylor, who recently enacted a bride in real life, finds herself completely at home as the twenty-two-year-old miss who throws her entire family into a state of chaos when she announces her engagement. And the report is that she gets even more laughs than she did as Van Johnson's co-star in "The Big Hangover."

The role of the groom in "Father of the Bride" is played by Don Taylor, remembered for "Battleground" and hailed as one of MGM's most promising new leading men. Also featured are Billie Burke and Moroni Olsen as Taylor's parents, Leo G. Carroll, Melville Cooper, Taylor Holmes, Paul Harvey and Frank Orth.

cannot understand how people can be so oblivious to such things. On the other hand I know of another little woman who the moment one enters her home sends "Towser" outside where he rightfully belongs.
